Merritt's boosting Robert Ellis team in the city

ROBERT Ellis has expanded its team recruiting a highly regarded property professional. Paul Merritt a director of Robert Ellis made the announcement that Mark Philpott had joined the team saying: "We are defying the current downturn in the property market and increasing staffing levels in anticipation of a return to a stronger market in 2010."

Mark has a proven track record with 25 years' property experience - he was formerly head of a multi-office regional estate agency.

Being a "Chilwell boy" (Mark still lives there), he is familiar with and well known in West Nottingham - central in the Robert Ellis office network.

Mark graduated in accountancy, is a Fellow of the National Association of Estate Agents and brings a wealth of management experience.

Mark commented that having known the directors of Robert Ellis personally for many years and seen the growth of the Robert Ellis business around his home area, he is delighted to be able to take a senior role in moving the firm, which has five offices to even greater success in the future.

Having also recently recruited graduate surveyors Philip Burton and Andrew Graham, working out of Beeston and Long Eaton respectively, Russell Gourlay a co-director said: "As a company, Robert Ellis strongly believe that motivated, able and properly qualified staff are the key to any business, and in 20 years of trading in West Nottingham the long-serving employees found in all offices have enabled the firm to retain a leading market share of property advice and sales."

Established in 1989 Robert Ellis has some 40 staff throughout West Nottingham and offers a comprehensive range of property and financial services from residential and commercial Sale and Lettings, Hips and Surveys through to Insurance and Mortgage advice.
